Powernext operates today the leading exchange for trading natural gas in Europe under the brand PEGAS. Our product offering in spot and derivative trading covers today 9 European countries. In the course of the energy transition, renewable energies play a more and more important role in Europe's electricity systems, which implies that the share of electricity generated from intermittent sources will increase. Natural gas is the perfect complement to accompany this transition. This leads to an increased need to trade natural gas on central market places. Powernext's trading volumes, which have constantly grown over the last years, reflect this.

The proactive communication of the developments of gas trading and its contribution to the energy transition are of great importance for Powernext. The External Communication Officer is responsible for creating and implementing the external communication strategy of Powernext.

If you want to fill this role with life, come and join our young and international team in the centre of Paris!
